MILITARY CLIQUE AT PEKING SEEKING TO RETAIN POWER

Purpose Is To Fill New Cabinet With Members Of Anfu Club

INTRIGUE IS SEEN

Name Of Tuan Chi-jui Is Put Forward For Post Of Chief Delegate

HSU'S OPPORTUNITY

Believed Announcement Of Policy Would Strengthen His Position

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, June 14.—The suggestion is being made that Marshal Tuan Chi-jui should be appointed Chief Delegate to negotiate peace with the South. As the militarists are suspected of having done their utmost to obstruct the efforts of the Delegates at Shanghai the suggestion is interesting. It is difficult to trace its origin, but it is thought likely that the militarists believe that Marshal Tuan in that capacity could complete the domination of his Party over the Government.

General Hsu Shu-cheng's appointment to the northern frontier command is popularly believed to be an effort to rid Peking of his intriguing presence, and it is thought unlikely that his own Party would be sorry to lose him and be freed from the embarrassing positions which his activities so frequently raise. Obviously his counsel was not followed in the recent political crisis, though there is reason to believe that the militarists seriously considered the chances of a coup.

Beliefs Of Militarists

Apparently they came to the conclusion that the country would not stand them, that any triumph secured by a sudden move would be short-lived. In other words they concluded that they were not strong enough to defy public opinion in China and fly in the face of the League of Nations and what it stands for in the minds of men today.

Well-informed circles at the Capital believe that the next Cabinet will be representative of the Anfu Club, and that the President will be forced slowly but surely into a corner, with the center of the arena occupied by the militarists, but the opinion is firmly held that if the President were to come out boldly with a clear announcement of policy, take the country into his confidence and call for the support of everyone in favor of a clean regime he would be greatly astonished at the favorable result, not only from non-militarists, but from many of the military leaders as well, who see now that their Party stands for trickery and corruption and not for the interests of their country.

Students In The Saddle

The students have now built up a force that should be used to the best advantage. It can be utilised for no better purpose than to support the President, who considers that he risked the Presidency in supporting them. Moderates, however anxious they may have been to secure the return of their Party to office, are with the President now.

Practically every intelligent Chinese, apart from the members of the Anfu Club, admits that President Hsu stands for what is best for China—and the Anfu Club knows that the country would rise against militarism. What then, is being asked by the President's stauncher supporters, is to be gained by the establishment of a regime dominated by the Anfu Club, with a thin sprinkling of nondescripts that would deceive no one? A bold front on the part of the President is the cry one hears on every side. The best way to avoid endless strifes and agitations, if not a whole-hearted rebellion, is thought to be a clear statement of policy and a coalition government.

(Reuter's Agency War Service)

Wellington, June 11.—The war has added £81,000,000 to the national debt of New Zealand, which is roughly now £170 per head of the population. The national wealth is equal to £400 per head and the bank deposits to £72 per head.

The Savings Bank deposits have increased from £19,000,000 in 1914 to £33,000,000 in 1918. The Acting Minister of Finance is optimistic regarding the financial future, providing the people realise their responsibility towards solving industrial problems. Second Chinese Is Dead, Result Of Poison Rumors

Man Attacked Saturday Night Dies In Hospital; But One Assault Yesterday

The second death caused by mobs venting their wrath on Chinese suspected of poisoning foodstuffs occurred yesterday when the man who was badly beaten Saturday night on East Yuhang Road died at St. Luke's Hospital. The Chinese was found unconscious on the street by Sergeant Todd of the Harbin Road Station and although he rallied at the hospital, internal injuries developed and caused his death. He was severely beaten about the body.

There was but one assault yesterday, a crowd beating up a wharf coolie on Range Road at six o'clock last evening. The coolie was carrying a piece of bread, the report was circulated that it was poisoned and although he ate the bread while the crowd looked on, he was assaulted. One arrest was made.

In an effort to quell the rumors, leading members of the Shanghai City gentry held a meeting at the office of municipal councilors at Nantao yesterday. They plan a vigorous educational campaign. Tipaos of the various districts were instructed to co-operate with the police in arresting any suspects and to submit any alleged poisoned food for thorough investigation and to give wide publicity to the results of such investigation.

The gentry expects to dispel the ignorance of the people concerning the poison propaganda and to eliminate further danger to innocent people within a short time.

A lecture campaign has been started by Chapei Chinese. Speakers appeared in the streets for the first time yesterday and pointed out the danger of believing in the unfounded rumors.

Coolies Are Threatened

Coolies employed by a Japanese egg dealer at 14 Woosung Road were given police protection yesterday after they had been threatened by a crowd who demanded that they sever their connections with the Japanese firm.

Sikh police escorted the coolies when they moved eggs from the Woosung Road establishment to the firm's godown at 27 Fearon Road. There was no trouble.

Japanese School Still Closed

The Japanese School is still closed. "The situation is too dangerous to reopen the school at present," a prominent Japanese said yesterday.

When the Residents' Corporation voted to keep the school closed for an indefinite period, a resolution was passed deploring the fact that the authorities are unable to give adequate protection to Japanese residents of the Settlement, according to the Nichi Nichi.

The resolution was sent to the Administrative Corporation and this body will, in turn, lay the facts before the Japanese Consul-General.

Chinese City Again Normal

Martial law was revoked in the Native City yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, officials of the Shanghai-Woosung Constabulary have notified the Settlement Police.

Beginning last night, the markets were allowed to remain open and military police no longer interfered with residents on the streets after nine o'clock.

Eight Brought To Court

Eight Chinese appeared in the Mixed Court yesterday to answer to charges arising from the anti-Japanese demonstrations.

A fortune teller and a shroff were sentenced to ten days' imprisonment each for assaulting a Chinese named Sah Tsz-faung and partly demolishing his home at 1015 Tatung Road on Monday. The complainant had gone to a dispensary and bought medicine for a relative and on the way home was accused of poisoning wells and was set upon and beaten. Later a large crowd stormed his home and were only dispersed when Detective Sergeant Robertson entered and faced them with a drawn pistol.

A Chinese cook and a tailor charged with assaulting two Japanese named S. Kato and S. Minami, as well as with attacking a Chinese Police Constable, on the Stone Bridge Road on Monday were remanded for trial before the Japanese Assessor.

A shop assistant arrested for rioting in the Honkew District was given two weeks and another shopman charged with breach of the peace and distributing inflammatory literature was severely cautioned and a number of handbills found in his possession were confiscated.

A shopkeeper was cautioned for displaying a flag bearing an inflammatory inscription and a coolie charged with participating in an assault on one N. Kasakabe on Range Road Monday evening was remanded for trial before the Japanese Assessor.

(Reuter's Agency War Service)

FIGHT OF U.S. SENATE ON WILSON DISCUSSED

Knox Resolution Is Styled Political Sabotage By New York Times

(Reuter's Agency War Service)

New York, June 11.—The newspapers comment at length on Senator Knox's resolution to separate the League of Nations Covenant and the Peace Treaty.

The York World and The New York Times condemn the resolution and point out that the Peace Conference will be far more impressed at the action of the American Federation of Labor in endorsing the Treaty and the Covenant as a triumph of freedom, justice and democracy.

The York Times says that the difference between Senator Knox's and the Labor resolution is the difference between political sabotage and patriotic Americanism.

The New York Sun and the New York Herald, which are opponents of the League, support the resolution.

The Knox Resolution

Washington, June 11.—In the Senate today, the Republican leader, Senator Knox, introduced a resolution which declares that it is impossible for the Senate to concur with the provisions of the League of Nations as drafted; asks that the Covenant be separated from the Peace Treaty before it is submitted for ratification to the Senate and proposes that the Peace Treaty shall permit any nation to reserve the question of the League of Nations for further consideration.

The resolution was referred to the Foreign Relations Committee.

It is understood that the resolution is intended as an official notice to the Peace Conference that the Senate will oppose the ratification of the Peace Treaty.

German Navy Officers In U.S. Brag Of Feats

Captain Pohlmann and Lieutenant Borgmeyer

Although the Allies are now discussing whether to scrap the German navy as useless, six German naval officers arrived in New York recently with boasts of how the Germans "put it all over the British in naval warfare." The German officers came over on the surrendered German steamer Captain Finistre to act as instructors to the American crew. Captain Emil Pohlmann, of Hamburg, was in command of the Germans. During the war he was second in command of the German raider Moewe. He boasted that the raider sank forty-three Allied vessels. He also declared that the sinking of vessels with non-combatants aboard was justified. Lieutenant Borgmeyer claimed the Zeebrugge affair was a victory for Germany, not for England. He declared "they left 675 men dead on the mole and we made 18 prisoners. Our losses were 8 men killed. After they had sunk their ships they left a canal 57 feet wide, plenty of room for our submarines to pass in and out."

Crippling Of Cables In American Strike Is Aimed At Wilson

(Reuter's Agency War Service)

New York, June 11.—The officials of the Telegraphers Union have announced a nation-wide strike, including cable operators, to be called today.

The object is said to be forcibly to attract the attention of President Wilson by interrupting his daily cable service.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 10.—A nation wide strike of telephone workers is ordered to begin on June 16 in sympathy with the strike of the commercial telegraphers beginning on the 11th.

The telephone operators' demands are similar to those of the telegraphers; namely, recognition of the Union's right to collective bargaining and abandonment of discrimination in discharging union men.

(Reuter's Agency War Service)

London, June 11.—A Ukrainian Diplomatic Mission has arrived in London. Another is going to Washington.

The Mission has submitted its case to the Government and is satisfied at the sympathetic reception accorded by the Foreign Office.

The Mission informed Reuter's Agency that its great aim is to co-ordinate the military action of the Allies in the Ukraine against Bolshevism, for which purpose they want formal recognition of the Ukrainian Republic. They declare Admiral Koltchak recently asked General Petlura to co-operate against the Bolshevists.

Committee Of Netherlands Community Seeks Donations For Victims In Java

A subscription list in aid of the victims of the recent eruption of the volcano Kloet in Java has been opened in Shanghai and in view of the many ties which bind the afflicted island to this port it is hoped that the committee in charge of the subscriptions will be enabled to remit a substantial sum to the Governor-General of the East Indies for distribution.

A small committee has been formed by some prominent members of the Netherland community of Shanghai to collect donations for the numerous victims of the calamity, it is announced by Mr. J. H. de Reus, Consul-General for the Netherlands.

According to the latest reports conservative estimates put the number of people killed at 50,000 while other large numbers have been stripped of all their movable and immovable property. The victims include many Chinese and Europeans.

Forty towns and villages were obliterated in less than three hours and a large, fertile, prosperous and densely populated area has been absolutely laid waste.

The committee have deposited at the Netherland Trading Society—Dutch Bank, 21 The Bund—a subscription list open to the public.

AUSTRIA PROTESTS

Chancellor Says Country Can Not Live If It Is Dismembered

(Reuter's Agency War Service)

London, June 15.—The Ministers of all the German States have been summoned to Weimar to consider Germany's answer to the Allies.

Work On Reports Ends

Paris, June 14.—M. Clemenceau, President Wilson, Mr. Lloyd George and Baron Sonnino have ended their examination of the reports concerning the counter-proposals.

The Co-ordination Commission is now fixing the definite text to be remitted on Monday to Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, who will take it immediately to Weimar.

Part of the text of the Allies counter reply is already at the printers and the remainder will follow today.

The Austrian counter-proposals are expected on Monday.

The Council of Four has brought down to the figure of 200,000 the number of soldiers Germany is allowed to keep for a period of three months, which the military experts expected to be 300,000.

Germany having tried to prevent the Polish troops passing through her territory, Marshal Foch sent an ultimatum to prevent any interruption.

Agreement Is Reached

Paris, June 13.—The Council of Four has examined the last report concerning the reply to the German counter-proposals, notably the most important referring to the League of Nations. Agreement is now arrived at on the reply as a whole.

The gross meaning of the documents, which are voluminous, is strictly similar in spirit to M. Clemenceau's letter of May 10 to Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau saying that the representatives of the Allied nations will admit no discussion about the right of maintaining the conditions of peace as to their fundamental principles such as have been fixed; they are willing only to consider suggestions of a practical order.

The Commission of Five Powers is revising the various parts of the wording, the Marquis Saionji representing Japan.

Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, being informed that he would not receive the Allies' reply today, asked for a special train soon as the reply is remitted to him for going to Weimar.

In the eventuality of a possibility of a refusal to sign the Treaty, the Allied troops are already massed along the right bank of the Rhine in readiness to march forward at the first signal.

View On League Question

Paris, June 11.—With regard to the question of the admission of Germany to the League of Nations, the French point of view is that her admission at present would be most inopportune and Germany should be admitted only after a period in which the sincerity of the pacific dispositions of the German people could be ascertained.

It is now taken for granted that the Allied reply to the Germans will be final and no further discussion will be allowed. A maximum period of one week will be granted to the German Delegates to go to Berlin to consult their Government and to inform the Peace Conference of their reply.

Concerning Reparations

Paris, June 10.—L'Echo de Paris states, in regard to reparations: the Peace Conference will inform the Germans that they maintained integrally their conditions. They cannot yet fix the exact amount of Germany's indebtedness but they propose to take possession of her liquid assets, amounting to one thousand million sterling. They will demand a margin of two years to enable an exact estimate of Germany's financial position to be made, after which the Allies will fix the payment of five thousand million sterling in gold or negotiable securities. They will then authorise the Commission to increase the amount of annual payments if Germany's capacity to pay increases. The amount payable by Germany will be not less than the debt payable by the most burdened ally.

L'Echo de Paris adds as regards Alsace-Lorraine, the Saar Basin and the left bank of the Rhine, the Allies' peace terms are inviolable.

Reply Is Delayed

Paris, June 10.—It is improbable that the Allies' reply to the German counter-proposals will be delivered before the second week of this month. The reply will consist of a composite memorandum dealing with the German objections seriatim and giving reasons for maintaining their own viewpoint. There will probably be but few changes in the Treaty.

M. Clemenceau is of opinion that Germany should not be regarded as permanently ineligible to membership in the League of Nations, but it is for the Allies, not Germany, to decide the time at which she is considered fit for admission to the benefits and responsibilities of the League.

Terms Are Re-Examined

Paris, June 9.—M. Clemenceau, Colonel House and Lord Robert Cecil today re-examined the terms under which nations other than founder members may be admitted to the League of Nations and modified them somewhat in order to render the admission of Germany easier. The report will be submitted to the Council of Four today.

It is understood the conditions recommended for Germany's admission to the League of Nations are:

(1) Establishment of a stable Government.

(2) Signature of the Peace Treaty.

(3) Loyal execution of the Treaty.

It has been decided that the Allies' reply to the German counter-proposals will not be delivered before June 13. The Germans will be given five days' time limit for acceptance.

Reports From Germany

Paris, June 9.—The latest reports from French observers in Berlin and elsewhere indicate that the German Government will declare its inability to accept the responsibility of signing the Treaty of Peace, and will request time to consult the National Assembly, which, however, is likely to reject the Treaty.

No Exact Figure Named

Paris, June 9.—The report of the Minister of Reconstruction on the German counter-proposals in regard to reparations, while fixing the total payable with regard to certain damages, states that in cases where it is impossible at present to determine the exact amount, specified time limits will be fixed in which the necessary estimates must be lodged.

Report Is Discussed

Paris, June 7.—All circles in Paris are discussing the Council of Fours' determination to make substantial concessions to Germany.

Departure Of Turk Mission

Constantinople, June 6.—The Turkish Mission to Paris sails today. It includes Grand Vizier Damad Ferid Pasha; ex-Grand Vizier Tewfik Pasha; the President of the Council, Riza Tewfik; the Minister of Finance, Tewfik Bey, and the Minister to Switzerland, Ressid Hallsh, accompanied by military advisers and secretaries.

Austrian Chancellor Writes Strong Protest On Terms

Paris, June 11.—Dr. Renner, the Austrian Chancellor, sent his first note to M. Clemenceau yesterday evening vigorously protesting against the dismemberment of Austria, especially the separation of Bohemia and the Tyrol.

He declared Austria is deprived of her industries and will not be able to live.

Dr. Renner declares that German-Austria will be deprived of her richest districts and four millions out of ten million German-Austrians will be subjected to hostile and foreign domination. He declares that what remains of German-Austria cannot live and will have to import 75 percent of its foodstuffs.

Furthermore, he says, the necessary imports cannot be covered by exports because all her export industries are being taken from German-Austria. The country's transport system will be financially and technically ruined.

He declares that the country at present is living on its very reduced capital and that the Treaty destroys the State and will create a breeding ground for Socialist and political disease.

Denikin Is Advancing

London, June 10.—Reuter's Agency learns that General Denikin's army, assisted by British tanks and aeroplanes, has advanced in the past few days fifty miles in order to link up with Admiral Koltchak's left. It is thought that the necessity forced on the Bolshevists on reinforcing their other fronts will soon lessen the pressure against Admiral Koltchak.

Describes Siberian Operations

London, June 11.—A representative of Reuter's Agency today interviewed a British naval officer from the Black Sea who has been in close touch with General Denikin's administration.

He described the huge quantities of munitions, guns, tanks and aeroplanes, valued at £17,000,000, which had been accumulated at Ekaterinodar. The hundreds of British officers there are mostly specialists. They state that General Denikin's troops are showing the greatest aptitude in aviation and working the tanks. Several ships with munitions arrive every week.

Very great importance is attached locally to the efforts to effect a junction between General Denikin and Admiral Koltchak which it is generally believed will be accomplished.

This naval officer commented on the good relations existing between the Turks and Allies at Constantinople, where the Committee of Union and Progress is not much in evidence and the restaurants exhibited the inscription, "Welcome to our Allies."

Progress Is Reported

London, June 11.—The War Office announces that General Denikin's troops are making encouraging progress.

The cavalry on the Manitch front has been placed under the command of General Wrangel, who has crossed the Manitch River on a wide front and is pressing forward.

The Volunteer Army up to May 29 had captured 15,000 prisoners and 600 guns and reduced two Bolshevist cavalry and three Bolshevist Infantry divisions to skeletons. Consequently it is estimated the Bolshevist 10th Army is reduced to 10,000 men.

Later news states that the Volunteer Army and the Don Cossacks have considerably advanced all along the front. Jutovo, Tsaritzin and also Popova., Slavyansk, Bakmut and Berdiansk have been captured.

DISTURBANCES IN MALTA PUT DOWN BY MILITARY

Outbreak Said To Be Due To High Cost Of Living And Unemployment

(Reuter's Agency War Service)

London, June 11.—From the latest news from Malta, Reuter's Agency learns that there are indications that the situation is improving. Marines have landed to deal with looters.

The trouble is chiefly due to dearness of food and unemployment. Some students are participating, aggrieved at some question affecting University degrees. It is believed that 4 were killed and 8 injured in the riots.

Outbreak Is Reported

London, June 10.—Telegrams from Malta report some disturbances, apparently owing to unemployment and an agitation for autonomy and the report that the University is to be abolished.

The military have been called out and there have been some fatalities but it is believed that order has now been restored.

S.S. Nanking Officers Profit By Exchange

Purser And Steward Of China Mail Liner Have Officials At Two Ports Worried

San Francisco, May 1.—Because of their shrewdness in taking advantage of the difference in gold exchange between Japan and the Philippines, Purser W. Holliday and Chief Steward F. R. Barrett of the China Mail liner Nanking are several thousands dollars richer today, while the local and Manila customs officials are nonplussed.

To be on the safe side Surveyor of Customs John S. Irby has ordered that $22,000 in Philippine pesos, brought back by Holliday and Barrett, be held pending an investigation.

Holliday told Surveyor Irby he bought $10,000 worth of gold at Yokohama from brokers, paying for it in United States Federal reserve notes, at a premium of 15 cents on the dollar.

The Japanese gold was sold by him and Barrett at Manila at 32 cents on the dollar, netting them a profit of 17 cents, or approximately $2,740.

The United States has declared an embargo on the export of gold from this country, and of currency in excess of $1,000, excepting Federal Reserve notes.

The collector of customs at Manila, after investigation, returned $22,000 silver pesos to Barrett and Holliday.

SOUTH AFRICANS HEAR LLOYD GEORGE'S VIEWS

Premier Tells Delegation That No Step Toward Disruption Of Union Would Be Favored

(Reuter's Agency War Service)

London, June 11.—Replying to the South-African Nationalist Deputation, headed by General Hertzog, which visited him in Paris on the 5th in order to advocate the grant of independence to the two former Dutch Republics, Mr. Lloyd George declared that the South African Union rested on the fundamental agreement between the British and Dutch elements and could not be dissolved by an action of the one which had not the consent of the other. Great Britain could not agree to any action which meant disruption of the Union, he said.

He emphasised that, besides enjoying complete domestic independence, the Union of South Africa occupied a very prominent place in world politics. It was futile to believe that South Africa could ever return to the isolation which was possible last century and he said that in the future League of Nations South Africa would have the same membership and status and far more influence than any other state outside the ranks of the great Powers.

Shanghai Men Protest Bank Of China Changes

Shareholders Object To Senate Proposal To Disfranchise Merchant Representatives

Charging the Peking Senate with wilfully disturbing the financial system of the nation 22 heavy Shanghai shareholders of the Bank of China yesterday despatched a telegram to President Hsu Shih-chang and Acting Premier Kung Hsin-chun, vehemently protesting against the resolution passed by the Senate last Saturday, making the administration of China's premier bank again subject to the constitution and bye-laws enacted for the bank in 1913. Two other telegrams of protest were sent to the board of directors of the bank in Peking and to Tuchun Li Shun and Governor Chi Tao-san of Kiangsu and Defense Commissioner Lu Yung--hsiang of Shanghai.

The change made by the Senate resolution takes away the entire power vested in the merchant shareholders and puts the bank completely in the power of the ministry of Finance. It makes the Governor and Vice-Governor of the bank appointive by the Government or the Minister of Finance instead of elective by the board of directors in Peking. The present board consists of 11 members elected by the shareholders, who will automatically go out of existence, if the resolution is approved by the President. Officers of the local bank also predict that another moratorium such as the one decreed by Yuan Shih-k'ai in 1916 may be repeated, since the Government will be able to make use of the bank's money for military expense or for any other political purposes at will.

The telegrams were sent following an extraordinary meeting held by local shareholders Monday night. The message to the President and Acting Premier says in part:

"When the Lower House passed the resolution reverting the administration of the bank to the Constitution of 1913, a protest was lodged through the Internal Peace Conference by the Chief Northern delegate, Mr. Chu Chi-chien. In response, Premier Chien, on behalf of the President, promised to maintain the present status of the bank.

"Yet on the 14th of June, the Senate arbitrarily brought up this question and passed it without careful consideration. By so doing, the body wilfully desired to destroy the protective instrument of the merchant shareholders, to annul the Constitution of the bank enacted in 1917 and to disable the board of directors. More important than these is that it disfranchises the merchant shareholders, who invested in the bank since 1917.

"When the constitution of the Bank of China was promulgated in 1913, no merchant shares existed. In September, 1915, however, merchants were invited to invest. The moratorium decreed in 1916 made the merchants reluctant to subscribe. So when the amount of shares subscribed since September, 1915, were totaled, it was found that only $3,643,300 were subscribed.

"But when the new Constitution was enacted and promulgated by a Presidential Mandate in November, 1917, merchants became most enthusiastic in subscribing; and by the time of expiration, no less than $7,279,800 was invested, because they were so convinced that their rights would be properly protected by the constitution. The development of the business of the bank since then is unequalled.

"There is absolutely no ground for the restoration of the Constitution of 1913, since this was enforced only during the period when the capital of the bank was limited to governmental shares and no merchant shares existed. To restore the Constitution of 1913 is similar to obtaining fraudulently the money of the merchants earned my blood and perspiration.

"The shareholders of this branch are greatly excited over this proposal to disturb the financial system, to mislead the country and to injure the merchants. Even if this suggestion were made in time of peace, it would be sufficient to precipitate a crisis. But the catastrophe resulting from this will be appalling when merchants have not yet recovered from the effects of strike and when they are restless in view of the suspension of the Internal Peace Conference.

"The extraordinary meeting today decided that the shareholders here are resolute that they would never agree to this kind of malicious proposal. Therefore, this joint telegram is despatched to urge you to strongly remain firm in your previous determination and veto the bill when it comes up for promulgation. Otherwise, the shareholders will be compelled to adopt suitable measures to deal with the situation."

The telegram to the board of directors urged the members to take a firm stand on their rights and not to be influenced by party intrigues.

The third telegram urged General Li, Mr. Chi and General Lu to assist the Shanghai shareholders in their effort.

SEMENOFF RE-ELECTED ATAMAN BY COSSACKS

Recent Retreat From Ufa Of Government Troops Said To Be Due To Weather

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Harbin, June 16.—It is reported from Chita that the annual general meeting of Trans-Baikal Cossacks has re-elected General Semenoff as Ataman, and General Baksheff as the Ataman's assistant.

Weather Is Factor

Reuter's correspondent is reliably informed that the retreat of Government troops in the Ufa region was due to the extremely rapid advance of the Government troops beginning last month, closely followed by bad weather which rendered the roads impassable and checked the necessary approach of reserves and supplies and finally forced the Command to order a retreat. However, the situation has since improved, and the offensive will shortly be renewed.

Disquieting Reports

Information from Vladivostok states that the recent events in the Maritime Province are causing great anxiety.

Field Marshal Says Nothing More Could Have Been Won By Pressing Forward

(Reuter's Agency War Service)

London, June 11.—Speaking at Mercer's Hall, in the City of London, where the freedom of the Mercer's Company was conferred on him and Admiral Sir David Beatty, Field-Marshal Sir Douglas Haig emphasised the completeness of Germany's military surrender.

He said that to have pressed forward after the great culminating defeat of the Germans on the Sambre on November 4, 1918, would have meant further loss of life, destruction of property and expenditure of money, the while it could not have rendered Germany more helpless from a military point of view than she was today with her army dissolved, her guns, transport and aeroplanes surrendered and the crossings of the Rhine held by the Allies. The surrender of the German fleet was not more abject, complete and irrevocable than the surrender of the German army.

ADVERTISING CLUB HEARS INTERESTING TALKS

Mr. Emil Scholz And Rev. Boynton Address Meeting At Columbia Country Club

The Advertising Club of China held its annual dinner and meeting at the Columbia County Club last evening when some sixty members and guests attended to transact the organisation's annual business and listen to an interesting program of speeches.

Mr. J. B. Powell presided and the principal talks of the evening were given by Mr. Emil M. Scholz, former publisher of the New York Evening Post, and the Rev. C. L. Boynton. Other speakers were Mr. Yang Tcheng, Special Envoy for Foreign Affairs; Mr. S. F. Tsao, former Consul-General to London, and Mr. D. K. Wong, of the Shin Shun Pao.

Mr. Scholz gave an instructive talk on the development of the successful commercial newspaper in America, emphasising the points on which this success is founded and outlining the essential features for the growth of an equally successful and powerful press in China. Inspiration of confidence among readers, freedom from outside influence and a strict self-censorship, he alluded to as the necessary basis for this success. He congratulated the press upon its rapid growth since the Revolution and the members of the club upon their organisation and spirit.

The Rev. Boynton was introduced by Mr. Hager as the representative of the "greatest selling organisation in the country"—the missionaries. Mr. Boynton told in comprehensive fashion, illustrating his talk with maps, of mission organisation in China and of the systematic method by which the missionary's "goods"—Christianity—were placed before the people. One of the most interesting parts of his speech dealt with the endeavor to bring the phonetic system of writing into general use. The "national" system was taken up by the Government and made the official system by mandate and last October the missionary organisations in conference determined to give every effort toward the promotion of phonetic writing. Already the Christian churches have had published over 10,000,000 pages in the new writing. The speaker told of a modern typewriter which he had equipped with keys of 39 phonetic characters by means of which anyone with a knowledge of Romanised Chinese could type out matter which could be readily read. He stated that the phonetic system could be mastered by an intelligent person in three days' time, while even the aged and most ignorant could learn the system within three weeks. He cited the system as a live question for the advertising men to take up, as with the phonetics brought into general use the advertising field would include everyone in China.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, A. R. Hager; vice-president, Mr. Fong Sec; foreign secretary, Mr. S. P. Westaway; Chinese secretary, Mr. Thomas H. Yu; treasurer, Mr. J. A. Dissaway; assistant treasurer, Mr. C. S. Ling; chairmen of committees: publicity, Mr. E. Strassman and S. B. Chang; educational, Mr. J. Potter and Mr. S. S. Chow; organisation Mr. A. G. Loehr and Mr. C. F. Lin; membership, Mr. J. B. Powell and Mr. H. H. Wong; house and entertainment, Mr. A. N. Lethin and Mr. S. C. Wong.

AGRICULTURAL EXPLORER HERE TO TAKE UP WORK

Mr. J. B. Norton Resumes Research For U.S., Replacing The Late Mr. F. Meyer

America's plant research work in China which was brought to an end last year with the drowning in the Yangtsze of Mr. Frank Meyer, United States Department of Agricultural explorer, is to be resumed again by Mr. J. B. Norton, another Departmental explorer, who has arrived in Shanghai and leaves tonight for Fukien province where he will begin a year of extensive investigation and collecting.

Edible fruits and vegetables suitable for serving as "stocks" upon which to graft domestic species in semi-tropical North America are the special object of Mr. Norton's search and it is for this reason that he goes to Fukien for his work. The plant life of China, Mr. Norton said, is practically identical with that of the Eastern United States. Almost every species found along the Atlantic seaboard finds it counterpart in this country. Up until the last year or so there was but one American product which had not been found to be duplicated in China—the hickory nut. And the oriental counterpart of this was found in the southern mountains by Mr. Meyer. Mr. Norton hopes to visit the locality of this discovery.

The main object of his work, Mr. Norton said, will be to find edible fruits and vegetables capable of serving as stocks in the Southern States which have, through ages of plant evolution, developed a certain frost resistance. There are certain fruits and vegetables here which have the quality of withstanding a considerable number of degrees of frost. Mr. Norton will collect hardy pear and peach stock, hardy greens and also ornamental plants and flowers.

Cricket In Chefoo

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Chefoo, June 10.—The first of the cricket matches of the season between the Settlement and the China Inland Mission Boys' School was played on Saturday afternoon. The School had the assistance of two of their "Old Boys" in addition to a couple of men from the teaching faculty. The Settlement went in first and some excellent batting on the part of Messrs. Sugden and Douglas accounted for a good score of 93. Russell, another of the Settlement stalwarts, was clean bowled for a duck. He is usually a source of annoyance to the bowlers as well as to the fielders and so the School were a trifle lucky to get rid of him so easily. As it was, the stand of Sugden and Douglas was the feature of the Settlement innings and without it the School would have had a veritable "walk over."

As stumps had to be drawn at 5:30 it was a question as to whether there would be time for a finish. It seemed doubtful whether the School could get the requisite number of runs in the limited time and in all probability they would never have done so had Graham gone on to bowl at the commencement of the School innings. But he was suffering from a sore arm and so Russel and Cunningham took the first overs.

Messrs. Stooke and Malcolm batted first for the School and they scored twenty-nine between them in a short space of time before the former of the two was bowled by Russel. Lack then joined Malcolm and together the two stayed in making runs, until a change of bowlers saw Malcolm dismissed and a few minutes later Lack followed him. A splendid innings of 27 by Clarke was mainly responsible for the School getting very near to the Settlement's total.

A mistake about the actual time of drawing wickets was responsible for one of the best finishes to the matches of this kind seen in Chefoo. The last man was in. It was a question as to whether he could get the winning runs or whether time would be called before, or whether the Settlement could not shift him and so win the match. Amidst breathless stillness the play went on. The two previous batsmen had been got rid of for one run but Anderson was cool and played splendidly. By careful hitting he got the winning runs, to the intense delight of the numerous small boys watching. A few minutes later and the last wicket fell, leaving the School victorious by eleven runs.

Obituary

The Rev Archie Dean Rice

Haichow, China, June 3.—The Rev. Archie Dean Rice died at his home in Haichow, North Kiangsu, on May 31, at the age of 48 years of typhus fever complicated by pneumonia.

Mr. Rice was born in Ferris, Texas. He came to China in 1900 under the auspices of the American Presbyterian Church, South, and was still in missionary service under that church when he died. He contracted the disease which caused his death while in the country carrying on missionary work. It was while selling books and preaching at a country fair that he was conscious of being bitten by the parasites which carry typhus and the disease clearly manifested itself a week later. It continued for 16 days and seemed on the point of improvement when a severe pneumonia set in and death occurred in two days. Mr. Rice was one of the most efficient workers in the Mission and can ill be spared. There is no one to take his place.

Mrs. Rice and the four children will remain in Haichow and Mrs. Rice will continue in the service of the Mission.

If You Want MILEAGE
Firestone
Non-Skid is the Answer

Mileage Firestone factories are always working ahead of the times, never satisfied with even Firestone's best. Unusual freedom from tyre trouble, more comfort and easier riding are all part of this new improved tyre.

MORE Mileage In Firestone Tyres there is an extra amount of cushion stock and more rubber between fabric layers. This means greater wear resistance, as each layer is protected imfrointernal friction.

MOST Mileage Performance is proving the superiority of Firestone Tyres at every point, making your shilling go farther, because your tyres run longer by miles—and Miles—and MILES.

SEATTLE CHAMBER ASKS FOR WIRELESS SERVICE

Wants Navy Department To Provide Service To Vladivostok And Orient

The vital necessity of adequate wireless communication across the Pacific, until such time as another cable can be laid, was impressed upon the Navy Department in a telegram sent last night by the Seattle Chamber of Commerce and Commercial Club to Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy.

According to the word sent the secretary, the Pacific Commercial Cable continues to be greatly congested, says the Seattle Daily Times, May 21, and is many days behind in the handling the business offered. It also is declared wireless business is restricted to messages originating in San Francisco. The condition, according to the Chamber of Commerce, practically cuts off the business houses of the Pacific Northwest from communication with the Orient.

As an emergency means of correcting the general congestion the Chamber urges the secretary of the navy to construct immediately a high power wireless station at Keyport, Wash., which would be able to communicate with the radio station at St. Paul Island, off the Alaska coast, and from that point messages could be relayed easily to Vladivostok and other Oriental points.

FAMOUS OLD MUSIC HALL IN LONDON TOCOME DOWN

In Place Of Empire Will Rise Building Containing Theaters And Roof Garden

London, May 9.—The Empire Music Hall in London is almost as well known to many New Yorkers as it is to Londoners, but the famous building soon is to be torn down to make way for a new building that will combine music hall, moving picture theater and roof garden. The London Times says:

Some time during the early autumn, probably in August, a start will be made with the pulling down of the structure and of the Queen's Hotel, which adjoins it. Then, for at least a year, London will have to do without its Empire.

The new building will serve a triple purpose. That part of it nearest to Piccadilly Circus will be devoted to the theater; in the center there will be a special approach to the winter garden, which is to be a prominent feature of the scheme, while on the site of the present Queen's Hotel will be a second theater, entirely devoted to the display of cinematograph films.

Four lifts will be installed to take visitors up to the winter garden, of which the top floor of the whole building will consist. In the summer it will be possible to throw the garden open to the air, and there will be a verandah running from one end to the other, which will make a promenade, giving a view over Leicester Square. In the winter the garden will be closed in, but the use of a glass roof and glass panels in the walls will help to maintain the illusion of an open air restaurant.

The new Empire is not expected to be ready for occupation until Christmas, 1920, but when it is available Sir Alfred Butt will use the theater for the lighter kinds of musical entertainment, with which it has been lately associated.

WILSON CONGRATULATES COMMANDER OF NC-4

You have won a deserved distinction adding still to the laurels of our country."

Ivory 'Mines' That Await Development

Tusks Of Extinct Mammoths Available In Large Quantities To Hardy Fortune Hunters

Fortune awaits a company sufficiently venturesome and well enough equipped to exploit the ivory "mines" recently discovered on a group of islands northeast of the river Lena, a great waterway rising in Eastern Siberia and flowing northward to the Arctic ocean. A United States naval expedition, sent in search of the ill-fated exploration ship Jeanette, found deposits of ivory upon this archipelago of unknown extent, but of undoubted vastness. The theory is that in remote ages—100,000 years ago, at least—immense herds of tuskbearing aimals, similar to the elephant of our own acquaintance, but much larger became the victims of a sudden cataclysmic change in meteorological conditions. These extinct monsters are now popularly known as "mammoths." The tropical valleys in which they were wont to live in plenty suddenly became the centers of terrific snowstorms. The snow overwhelmed the creatures and apparently they were incased solidly in ice, in which they have since remained in a perfect state of preservation. Occasionally an extraordinarily long summer in those latitudes melts away enough ice to expose one of the carcases, which, it is asserted, is never in any other condition than as though life had abruptly been suspended. A Lieutenant Scheutze, who was a member of the naval expedition referred to, is of opinion that the islands visited by his ship were once a part of the mainland. He thinks that a successful enterprise could be undertaken by a party who should take a staunch vessel through Bering Straits and dig for ivory. He places the limit of time during which operations could be carried on with safety at six weeks. The venture would be beset with perils, for the coast is uninhabited. It is set up that the ivory of the "mammoth" is of superior quality, and that it is easily worth G.$4 a pound in the market. An average tusk is some fourteen feet in length and weighs about four times as much as the largest elephant's tusk. So here is an opportunity for the daring.

SUPREME COURT JUDGMENT

Three claims were brought in the Supreme Court yesterday against Mr. and Mrs. J. Owen. Judgments were rendered in the two brought against Mr. Owen by Yuen Tah and Co., for $220.96 for goods supplied, and by the Astor Grill for $19.50 for food supplied. In the case brought against Mrs. Owen, by Yung Shun Kee for Tls. 396 for furniture supplied the Court ordered an adjournment till Saturday. Neither of the defendants appeared.

Mr. M. Reader Harris appeared for the plaintiffs in the Yuen Tah claim. After testimony of service was taken of the assistant clerk of the court, the Court rendered judgment for the amount claimed and $33 costs. In the Astor Grill case the original claim was for $21, but the Court disallowed $1.50 for drinks at the bar.

In the last case a Chinese named Chen appeared for the plaintiffs. When questioned by the Court why plaintiffs did not sue Mr. Owen instead of Mrs. Owen, witness said that the furniture was ordered by Mrs. Owen and she signed for it. The Court ordered the appearance of the actual plaintiff and the production of any documents signed by Mrs. Owen.

DR. SUN STARTS MAGAZINE

Dr. Sun Yat-sen late Generalissimo of the Canton Military Government, is starting a monthly Chinese magazine with headquarters at 46 Route Vallon. The publication will make its first appearance August 1. Besides Dr. Sun, Messrs. Wang Chao-ming, Hu Han-ming, Tai Tien-shou and Liao Chung-kai are on the editorial staff.

China Political Notes From Chinese Press

The Southwest has so far given no signs of yielding in respect to their eight peace terms. Mr. Chu Chi-chien, the Northern chief delegate, is still unwilling to go to the South. There is a report that Mr. Chien Nung-hsun will succeed him as chief delegate.

In response to the President's invitation for their opinion, several provinces have telegraphed their approval of Mr. Chow Shu-mou for premier.

General Meng En-yuan, Tuchun of Kirin, against whom many complaints have been made and proved, will be removed from office and General Tien Chung-yu will be his successor.

As the government has received disquieting news from the Resident Commissioner of Urga and the Tuchun of Heilungkiang, Major-General Sung Tse-yang has been ordered to start immediately for Suiyuan to make all necessary preparations.

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs has protested against the action of the Diplomatic Corps in stopping the supply of arms to Peking. It holds that the arms are required for the defense of the Northwest.

Wang Tah-hsieh is trying to get the portfolio of the Minister of Communications, but his efforts are being opposed by the new Chiaotung clique. The President wishes him to be Minister to Tokio.

New Head Named For Peking University

In reply to the Amalgamated Peace Federation at Shanghai, the Cabinet telegraphed yesterday to say that since Chancellor Tsai Yuan-pei of the Government University of Peking has not yet returned to Peking and Mr. Hu Jen-yuan is reluctant to accept the Acting Chancellorship, Mr. Wen Chung-yu has been appointed to take charge of the affairs of the university.

EMPRESS BRINGS MAIL

The Empress of Japan arrived in Shanghai yesterday afternoon with 1,600 sacks of mail.

The China mail steamer China left Yokohama Monday morning at 9 o'clock, and is expected to arrive at Shanghai Friday morning with 1,350 tons of cargo and mail. The China will sail for Hongkong Saturday afternoon.

Chefoo News Notes

(China Press Correspondence)

Chefoo, June 12.—After all Chefoo did not join the strike. The question was settled by the receipt of a wire received from Shanghai yesterday afternoon, announcing the reopening of the shops and the resumption of business again. Thus the vexed question was settled just as the Chinese were on the verge of agreeing to the suspension of all business.

Perhaps the heavy fall of rain that came this morning was regarded as bad joss by them, for had they wanted to parade they could not have done so, and young student body was perforce unable to venture forth in the open air. The feeling in Chefoo is that of relief over the turn affairs have taken. Foreigners were not anxious to see the strike spread to here. It would have complicated matters somewhat and Chefoo cannot afford to have business dislocated at this present juncture.

As mentioned above, heavy rain fell this morning. It is the first drenching rain that we have had for months. The wheat crop gathered at the end of last week suffered in consequence of the prolonged drought. Cherries for the same reason were exceptionally dear this year though the strawberries have been very plentiful.

We are expecting the Rev. and Mrs. Matthews in Chefoo this week. The former is to be temporary chaplain of the Port and will be in charge of St. Andrew's Church, thus relieving the Lay Reader. Chefoo has not had a resident chaplain since the departure of the Rev. H. A. H. Lea for service with the coolie battalion. The Bishop of the Diecese has just left for England and it is stated that he intends to secure, if possible, the services of a former army chaplain for the Port of Chefoo. Churchgoers here hope the Bishop may be successful.

Chefoo has been blessed with capable and progressive Committee for the American Red Cross Society. Their efforts in the past, the opening of the Ice Cream and Soda Water Fountain, etc., have all been successful undertakings resulting in the accumulation of funds for this very worthy organisation. This year again they have arranged the cinemas each Tuesday evening. Tomorrow they hope to arrange for the filming of Cinderella and a matinee is being given specially for the children.

Catalogued for sale: 2,051,821 (about 916 tons).
Sold: 1,317,120 (about 588 tons).

Our weekly auctions started yesterday morning, and a further small decline has to be reported in nearly all grades with the exception of Fine Pale Crepe, which quality was in rather scant supply. Hardly any of the manufacturers were in the market, whereas dealers were keenly interested.

Fine Ribbed Smoked Sheet sold up to 74 cents, marking a decline of 1 cent on the week. 74½ and 75 cents was paid for a few lots packed in cases.

Fine Pale Crepe met with a very strong demand and sold up to 77½ cents, showing no change on the week. 78 cents was paid for this quality packed in cases.

Good Ribbed Smoked Sheet and Good Pale Crepe were wanted at 1 to 1½ cents below last week's prices.

Fine and Good Brown Crepes were again about 2 cents cheaper, whereas there was a good demand for Good Dark and Barky Crepes, which grades were nearly unchanged. A few lots of Scrap obtained fair prices.

There was no change in the market at the continuation of the sale this morning, the top prices being easily obtainable for both Fine Ribbed Smoked Sheet and Fine Pale Crepe.

The tendency of the market may be given as steady, although there is an easier undertone. The next auction will take place on Thursday, June 5.

WEEKLY SILVER REPORT

(Reuter's Agency War Service)

London, June 12.—Messrs. Samuel Montagu's Weekly Silver Report today states that the market has shown considerable strength during the week owing to the scantiness of supplies. The trade demand is far from keen and there has been some danger from labor troubles, thus far happily averted. China and South America have been purchasing in the United States.

Shanghai exchange is 5/4.

Hankow Market

Hankow, June 11, 1919.

Finance And Money Market

A fair amount of Bills were offering during the week under review, with Banks unwilling buyers for near delivery, and good sellers for June. There was a good demand for Yen on the 5th and 6th for retirement of Bills. T. T. Taels on Shanghai remained nominal at 96.65-96.7 until with tight money the rate advanced to 96.85. Dollars rose to 71.6-71.8 buyers and sellers respectively. Interest: 14 percent. Changsha exchange: nominal.

Imports

Piece Goods.—Business is practically at a standstill and Home prices keep soaring, thus killing forward business completely.

Yarn.—Owing to the political unrest business is at a standstill.

Exports

Local markets have slightly eased off owing to the recent political disturbances in Shanghai and dealers are more keen on selling than for some time past. There is a particularly marked drop in wood oil prices. Home markets remain about the same with a strong demand for seeds and oils and a firmer tone for beans. A few sales of stock cargo in hides to America are reported at good prices.

Slandering The Strike--In Shanghai As Well As Tokio

THERE is more than the comic element in the "official" despatches dealing with the Shanghai strike which we reproduced yesterday from Japan papers, the telegrams describing the strike as a second Boxer rising, with mobs seizing the British-American Tobacco Company, Kelly and Walsh and other foreign hong buildings. Those despatches also go to show why the whole world is nearly always misled about events in China.

It is serious enough that the Japanese people should be given such a criminally distorted version of the facts. For out of such distortions national hysteria and wars arise. What is more serious is that that is in all probability the version that Europe and America also will get. For Japan always is on the cables first.

Those whose business it is to know how Far Eastern news is handled in European and American papers often have gnashed their teeth at the Japanese bias such news always carries. Not many people may know it, but the fact is that the first reports printed in American papers of the Japanese-American soldiers' clash in Tientsin placed the entire blame on the Americans. They said that Americans had invaded the Japanese Concession in force, had besieged Japanese buildings and wantonly attacked helpless Japanese civilians. And that was the reason for the cables that came back from Washington to the effect that the American Government was considering offering an apology. Later, when the truth finally made its way home and substantiated evidence was provided that what really occurred was that Japanese troops and mobs had invaded the French Concession, American soldiers had been brutally treated and the American consul stoned, then there was no talk of apology and, as you know, the incident was closed by an official Japanese expression of regret. The explanation, of course, is that while cable delays of several days hold back press messages from China, Japan gets its news off first, through government privileges, and it is Japanese-colored news that American papers print. When the China messages come several days later, they are probably no longer "news."

And this is what undoubtedly is taking place now with respect to last week's strike. Lurid despatches are undoubtedly being printed in American papers telling how frenzied Chinese mobs are attacking foreign women and children and besieging foreign buildings. And when the belated truth gets home, editors will undoubtedly throw it into the waste-basket. But it is not to be forgotten that Shanghai is itself supplying material for this campaign of slander. Too much malicious nonsense is being talked by petty officials, semi-officials and non-officials about so-called anti-foreign feeling, and that is all water on the wheel of those whose interest it is to belittle and befoul any effort of China to set itself on its feet. Shanghai being an international settlement embracing a number of semi-dependencies, nothing can be done by the community to give deserved punishment to such petty officialdom. But it is a great pity and a wretched slander on the Chinese people.

Music-Mad Mexico

By L. J. De Bekker

(New York Tribune)

Mexico City, March 23.—There are few tall buildings in the Mexican capital, but in one of them, at la Calle Nuevo Mexico, Num. 6, is the office of Maestro Julian Carrillo. From his windows on the fifth floor we looked across flat roofs, where women were hanging out the family wash, toward a massive pile of white marble at the lower end of the Alameda.

"Some day that building will be finished," said Carrillo, "and then Mexican composers will come into their own. Operas which exist in manuscript, symphonies, all will be heard. But when will it be finished? Who knows?"

"Fortunately, I do," I said, "and I am glad to be the bearer of good news. President Carranza told me yesterday that he was resolved to complete the interior of the Teatro Nacional before the expiration of his term of office. He would not promise, he said, to carry into effect the whole of the decorative scheme, but he realised the need of an auditorium for music of the highest class, and as two-thirds of the estimated cost of 12,000,000 pesos had been spent already he considered it good business to convert a property now useless into a producer of revenue."

A Music-Mad Capital

Carrillo smiled expansively and remarked that he was now at work on his third symphony. I fancy this work will be ready for a public hearing by the time the Teatro Nacional is thrown open to the public, that the news will have a stimulating effect on other Mexican tone poets and that gentlemanly managers in divers music centers on both sides of the great pond will look longingly toward the time when music drama can be adequately staged in this music-mad capital. True, there is to be a short season of opera when Lent ends, but opera in an ordinary theater is quite different from opera in an opera house, and Mexicans hope their new temple of art will be the most beautiful in the world. Certainly, it will be the largest in the three Americas.

I had gone to Carrillo seeking information as to the training of the military bands which give free public concerts in all the larger cities of the republic. One in Vera Cruz, one in Puebla and three in Mexico City had demonstrated such astonishingly uniform excellence as to arouse my curiosity. The brasses were mellow, the woodwinds smooth and the leaders none of them mere time beaters, although, of course, differing widely both as to temperament and ability.

The Marvelous Mexican Bands

As New Yorkers may have forgotten Carrillo's attempt to found an "American Orchestra" there in 1915, or Walter Damrosch's presentation of his second symphony, it may be well to remind them that he speaks with authority, having been president of the International Music Congress held in Rome in 1911, that he was formerly director of the Mexican National Conservatory and that he was for a time concertmeister in Leipzig under Arthur Nikisch. Back in Mexico after many years in other lands, he teaches violin and composition, writes technical works on theory which are issued by Schirmer for Spanish-American countries and gives what leisure he has to original work.

Mexican bands, Carrillo affirms, owe their excellence to two things: Careful preliminary training of the musicians in the conservatories, of which there are now two instead of one, and unremitting labor at rehearsals. He does not claim that the personnel of the bands is really higher than in other countries, but he insists that elsewhere, and especially in the United States, not enough time is devoted to rehearsals, and that where orchestras are abundant there is a tendency to look down upon military bands and to relegate to them only the so-called popular music. He deplores the pride of the musician who thinks it beneath his dignity to direct or compose for a military band, and says that every conservatory pupil should be made to study a band instrument.

An enthusiastic on bands? Well, rather!

The fact is that the average military band in the United S ates would not think of attempting the programs which are given here. Popular marches, an occasional overture, ragtime and jazz—certainly; but not the symphonies of Beethoven, which are a feature of Sunday morning performance in the Alameda. Naturally, the Police Band fails to produce the effect of the Philharmonic, the Symphony Society, the Bostonians or even the minor symphony orchestras, but the adaptations are good, the educational value is immense and the bands suffice to keep alive the sacred fires until in the good times that are coming orchestral concerts and chamber music will cease to be rare treats.

Lately Mexico has heard an annual series of twelve concerts by the Nacional Orchestra, but the Beethoven Orchestra, of which much was expected, has disbanded and concerts of string quartets are to be listened to only in the conservatories.

Subsidised Conservatories

The oldest of these institutions, the Conservatorio Nacional de Musicay Declamacion, is housed in an ancient palace which once belonged to the University of Mexico, not far from the Plaze de la Constitucion, and facing one side of the Palacio Nacional. There is an immense patio, with offices and classrooms opening upon the ground floor and balcony, and a teaching staff for all branches of musical art and literature. The pupils number 200. The Free Conservatory, organised some years ago after a disagreement in the faculty of the older school, maintains separate quarters and staff and trains 400 pupils. Both conservatories are subsidised by a grant from the government and both are apparently doing good work.

Mexico's earliest musicians, it need hardly be said, were concerned chiefly with church music, but in course of time a school of national composers has grown up, including many writers of dance music and songs and some few men who have composed in the larger forms. Among the best known musicians who have written serious works may be named Milesio Morales, Ricardo Castro, Felipe Villanueva, Gustavo Campa, Manuel Ponce, Rafael Jello and Arnulfo Virmonte.

Of Maestro Carrillo, I may say in parting that he is the most distinctively American composer I have ever encountered, being, in fact, a full-blooded American Indian, a native of the State of San Luis Potosi. Like most cosmopolities, he is fond of New York and may return for a visit within a year or so.

What The American People Have Lent To Win The War

(New York Times)

With the Victory Loan over the top, the total which the Government has borrowed from the people in less than two years reaches twenty-two and a quarter billions. The subjoined table covers the amount of bonds actually issued in the first four loans, the $4,500,000,000 subscribed for the Victory notes, and the estimated amount of War Savings and Thrift Stamps sold:

First Liberty Loan	$1,988,799,500
Second Liberty Loan	3,612,518,500
Third Liberty Loan	4,055,687,050
Fourth Liberty Loan	6,993,073,250
Victory Loan	4,500,000,000
Total bonds and notes	$21,150,078,300
Stamps	1,100,000,000
Total public loan	$22,250,078,300

With all this the slate of the Government's debts to other than bondholders is not wiped clean. The proceeds of the Victory Loan will be eaten up by the redemption of the Treasury certificates issued in anticipation of the sale of the $4,500,000,000 of notes. In Mr. Marvey E. Fisk's little book, "Our Public Debt," just issued by the Bankers Trust Company, he expresses his belief that "the permanent addition to the public debt because of the late war, after the Victory Loan financing has been completed, will probably closely approximate $25,000,000,000." To find the gross debt of the nation we must add the $1,207,827,886 which the United States owed on April 1, 1917, six days before Germany's war upon us was officially recognised.

Not all the twenty-two and a quarter billions loaned by the people to this Government was used for our own particular part of the war. Even an Administration which spent with unparalleled extravagance had to find a limit somewhere in the amount of material and labor available. Nearly ten million dollars was loaned—or the credits for it established—to ten other Governments. Most of this, perhaps all, will be repaid, and meanwhile it bears interest. So the United States emerges from the war with a net debt, as Mr. Fisk says, of between fifteen and twenty billions.

We are far luckier than our Allies. We are our own creditors for the full amount of our net debt, and other nations must pay us interest on the difference between the net and the gross. Great Britain, for instance, owes 30 percent of her national wealth; and four of the thirty-six billions of her debt she must pay to us. All the money that is collected in the next twenty-five years to pay off our war bonds will be returned to the men and women who are taxed to pay it—the fifteen or twenty million bondholders of this Republic. If America through a sane administration of public affairs keeps prosperous the war debt, in spite of its present appalling appearance, will not be painful. Mr. Fisk, assuming that the money loaned to other Governments will be repaid, estimates that our war debt can be paid in twenty-five years by applying to the gross interest and sinking fund $2.17 out of every $100 of national income. This is based, however, on an estimate of the national income at $60,000,000,000. Depression or panic caused by national mismanagement would very quickly wake the country out of the anæsthesia of prosperity and make the operation of paying the debt painful.

Happy the man who has a $50 bond the coupons of which will act as taxpayers for every $2.17 of the future tax. Hang on to your bonds!

Correspondence

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir—At the very outset of the students' movement, we were inclined to rush into the conclusion that one of the historical comic-tragedies—the Children's Crusade—was going to be repeated on the stage of Chinese politics. But by careful and intelligent observation of its subsequent developments, we are convinced of the fact that the movement is not entirely one growing out of unrestrained political fanaticism, nor is it one actuated or influenced by base motives. It is a genuine expression of the nation-wide dissatisfaction with the present rule in Peking, and a practical demonstration of the popular yearning for a more efficient and workable system of government. The students, backed up by the masses, must have in one way or another already brought pressure to bear upon the leaders up in Peking, otherwise the descent of the mandates of June 12 would not have been expected. But the Peking government must realise that any failure to work in harmony with popular sentiments is dangerous.

It may not be out of place here to say just a few words about the cause of the present disturbance. I feel sure of my ground, when I positively state that the whole and fundamental trouble with China today is that the masses of the people are ignorant. Because the masses are ignorant, the Peking government is not representative of the whole nation, and the gangs of politicians and militarists, usurping the power of the people, are daily bargaining away the birthright of this country. Because the masses are ignorant, the Japanese government feels inclined and bound to resort to a high-handed policy which at once threatens the integrity and sovereignty of China. Therefore ignorance of the people, inefficiency and unworkability of the government, and the menacing attitude of our island neighbor are the principal causes of China's recent diplomatic failure and therefore her present disturbance.

In spite of the fact that ignorance lies at the root of China's trouble, the present movement has its positive achievements. Whether the students will succeed or fail ultimately, we are not as yet in a position to predict. However, it is not too daring to say that the following results may be expected of the movement on foot:

(1) A deeper sense of Democracy.—The motive at the back of the present movement is patriotism, which grows out of an unfeeling sense of duty. For the first time, the Chinese people are brought to consciousness of the fact, that the country is no longer the private property of the rulers but the common possession of all concerned, and that any government failing to work in accord with public opinion is not representative and, therefore should be protested against and, if needs be, overthrown. Experience drives home to the Chinese people a clearer and broader conception of democracy and a fuller realisation of their duty towards their country.

(2) A closer union.—Keen and disinterested observers of the present situation will, perhaps, agree with me that never in the history of China have the different classes of people exhibited such unity of spirit and action as at present. They all feel, think, and act in one way. They have a common purpose to serve, and they serve it whole-heartedly and conscientiously. We ought to be able to infer from the fact, that the disunion between the North and the South is after all only a political disunion, consequent upon the disagreement of a few political and military aspirants. The people do not wish it. It is interesting to note that while the self-conceited and bigoted politicians have failed in effecting a political union between the North and the South, the people themselves are bringing about a more fundamental and permanent union based upon unselfishness and common interest.

(3) A trenchant lesson to the government.—The lesson which the students' upheaval teaches is that it is futile and dangerous to work against popular sentiments, and the Chinese, though ignorant, are capable of big things in time of emergency. We are not at all a backward race. We have certain possibilities within us which, when realised, will reveal our true personality. We hope that the government hereafter will pay due attention to the opinions of her people. We also hope that our island neighbor, whose recent policy has led us to the conclusion that she, in her diplomatic dealings, is totally devoid of international morality, will come to realise the importance and necessity of paying a certain amount of respect to the sovereign rights of a physically weak but potentially strong nation. "Wisely and slow; they stumble that run fast."

(4) Brighter prospects for China's industries.—The present boycott movement against Japanese goods is only a negative method, which without being supplemented by a positive program will be doomed to failure. Leaders of the movement must have felt, under the present circumstances, the pressing need of developing China's new industries, so that we may have proper substitutes for Japanese goods. Boycotts may help China only for a moment, but for her ultimate salvation financially and economically she must learn how to manufacture her own goods for her own people. Will well wishers of China let slip this golden opportunity?

In conclusion, I may add that the first and fundamental step in tackling the present situation and in meeting future emergencies that may arise is to enlighten the masses. Education, therefore, is the only root-cure of the many "diseases" of China.

A Japanese Complain

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir.—I would esteem it a great favor if you will kindly allow me a space in your valuable paper to insert a letter of mine addressed to the Chinese public in general.

Yesterday about quarter after six in the evening I happened to be going up North Szechuen Road and when I came abreast of the Apollo Cinematograph, I beheld a Japanese, who was already badly beaten, led by a Chinese constable, followed by an excited mob of Chinese, each and every one of them eager to kick or hit the Japanese. Some succeeded in their attempts, finally the mob overpowered the police and the Japanese was again badly beaten. He would have been killed if the timely arrival of the Indian policemen did not arrive at the scene.

The rumors about the Japanese are attempting to poison Chinese foods are absolutely baseless, it has no foundation at all. Now just think for a moment. If the Japanese are intend in doing such acts, they would do so, first to the large population of Chinese in Japan, I am sure no one has yet heard of any Chinese being poisoned in Japan.

The Chinese can boycott the Japanese goods, but surely they are going beyond the limit in taking the laws into their own hands. We have the Municipal to enforce law and order and not the Chinese public. Let this sink into the heads of the Chinese.

JUSTICE.

A Returned Student Replies

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir.—In reply to the communication which appeared in your columns of 17th instant, I take pleasure to inform Mr. "A Returned Student" that the meeting held on June 11th was called in the name of the "American Returned Students' Club of Shanghai" with the object of forming a union for all the western returned students. It is the desire of the Union to get into touch with as many western returned students as possible, and while we appreciate the points raised in his letter, we fail to admire the spirit shown and the caustic and destructive criticisms advanced by him.

The Union is in its infancy and the Executive Committee is only provisional. It requires the support of all public spirited western returned students to whom a general invitation will be extended in due course. Any such student who desires to tender their advice and suggestions, let him manfully communicate with the undersigned instead of attacking in the style of Brutus.

I am,
Your truly,
Y. S. TSAO.

'The Black Crook'

(New York Tribune)

Wherever doddering old men and women approaching forty sit about the fire of a long winter night puffing at their Fatimas, talk will now and again inevitably revert to "The Black Crook." Some will say that they actually saw the show (wheeled in, doubtless, in perambulators); others will merely recall the posters blazing forth its attractions; all will agree that it marked an epoch, and that modern life as we know it then began.

That is a funny word, "modern." On Sheridan Square it means everything not more than a week old. In Petrograd it doubtless looks back to the second revolution. We suspect that the war will be the dividing mark for most of the world—certainly for all that part of the world that fought in it. Anything before July, 1914, will be old-fashioned long before we can get our Victory bonds paid for. So it is of an obsolescent modernism that we write, a rollicking, devil-may-care youth very bare of hair on the top of the head and slipping unobtrusively out of tennis and into golf.

It was in 1869 that Imre Kiralfy, who died the other day, danced in "The Black Crook" at Niblo's Garden. But the show lasted for years thereafter, and was revived periodically through the '70s and into the '80s. Other spectacles made the name Kiralfy more famous, especially "America," at Chicago in 1894, and the cause of pageantry owed much to his genius. It was not as a pageant, however, that "The Black Crook" prospered or marks an epoch for the passing modernist of today. It was the first show wherein tights reigned supreme. Tights in the ballet were always accepted. Tights in the circus lifted no eyebrows. But tights as a complete entertainment, the central feature of a show, "The Black Crook" introduced to America in the Centennial era.

Those were, indeed, the days. But so fast has the pace been since that tights seem now as quaint and prim as pantalettes. That is the trouble with all progress. For in few years "The Black Crook" thrilled and stirred hurrahs and maledictions. Then it faded into pallid obscurity, and lives on now only in the memory of reminiscent quadrogenarians. In short, "The Black Crook" was a pioneer, and, like all pioneers, it took only a couple of generations to relegate it to the past of mossback conservatism.

Hall's Distemper has led the way to a new era in house decoration—the era of brighter, cleaner and healthier homes.

It is the most durable of all decorations, lasting for years with freshness unimpaired, whereas wall-papers deteriorate from the first day by fading and accumulating dust and dirt.

Hall's Distemper is a thorough disinfectant, and is applied directly upon the wall, forming a hard surface, from which dust and dirt may be "spring-cleaned" by lightly sponging with warm water.

Hall's Distemper (Registered Trade Mark.)

is a unique preparation and has the recommendation of leading sanitary authorities, architects, and decorators everywhere.

How Lions In An African Jungle Saved A Woman's Life

That he would send a snake-doctor to relieve her of the encumbrance of the husband she already possessed was the suggestion made by a Kafir chief to Mrs. D. E. Halden, a nurse traveling in South Africa, to whom he also munificently offered one of his sons for a husband, provided she would stay among the tribe as their doctor. Having preconceived notions against the propriety of falling in with the proposal of the dusky chieftain, Mrs. Halden felt that she must decline the honors about to be thrust upon her, and so indicated to the Kafir, at the same time trying to explain her prejudices in the matter, and thereby placing herself in deadly peril, from which she was extricated by resorting to a trick no less extraordinary than calling to her aid a number of wild and ferocious lions. This thrilling tale is told in The Wide-World Magazine (New York) as follows:

I was traveling through the Transvaal to southern Rhodesia before the Boer War, and had only my hunchbacked Hottentot driver, M'japa, a youth of seventeen or eighteen, for company. In spite of his deformity, M'japa was a splendid driver besides being utterly fearless—two absolutely necessary qualities in this country.

We had traveled miles over the lone veldt under scorching sun and cloudless sky, along the "White Flag" and "Paradise" (Hell Valley) trail, resting in the heat of midday and at night. Starting next morning, as the glow of sunrise touched the crests of the scattered blue kopjes, we passed "Sulfur Springs," and about ten-thirty draw near to a big Kafir Stad, one of the Masequas (Masequa means Mother of Bread, I believe), and here we outspanned for breakfast.

Our arrival seemed to cause a slight commotion among the huts, and as I leisurely ate my breakfast I watched with amusement the hurrying hither and thither of the natives, and presently saw several other, evidently men of importance, holding a council with much waving of hands and wagging of heads.

Barely was our meal over when several of these old men came in a most dignified fashion toward us. Among them I recognised the father of Machinga, one of my old servants at Fort Edward, who seemed to have been chosen as spokesman.

By giving advice while on my journeys, I had made myself a name among the scattered villages, and it seems I had been recognised, for they came to consult me about an outbreak of skin disease which they said was driving them mad. Having solemnly questioned them, through the medium of M'japa, I recommended bathing in the hot springs, leaving the eating of "high" flesh meat in favor of milk and vegetables, and the removing of the Stad to a location higher in the hills.

I gathered that my advice was considered very good, and that they intended following it, but now they requested me to come and stay among them as a doctor. This was rather too "large" an order, so I told them I had a home and a husband elsewhere, and could not promise to stay, as he might object if I did not return.

Machina's father evidently saw no difficulty in this, for he offered me the pick of his sons for a husband, one hundred head of cattle, and a Stad of my own if I would only stay, further promising, by way of making everything comfortable all around, to send a snake-doctor to kill my present husband. I reasoned with him for a time through M'japa, and when he became a little threatening told him to go and ordered M'japa to drive in the mules and inspan. Meanwhile, I kept the old Induna covered with my rifle as a precaution. Finally, we drove away, fully determined to take the longer and more dangerous trail by the Brak River on my return.

Soon the clustered huts and groups of natives had faded from view, and we were once more where to me "every prospect pleases," for an hour in the savage grandeur of these parts is worth more to me than a month in the tame vicinity of towns. M'japa, however, was decidedly not pleased, his glum face betraying his unspoken thoughts.

After four hours' unbroken journey into the cool of the afternoon, I ordered the outspan at the big water-tree (Baobab) on the Matamba trail fork. M'japa demurred, and, as nearly as possible mutinied, but dared not disobey. Here we rested about an hour—rest is badly needed after even a short journey in a Cape-cart—and gave the mules drink and feed.

I was just thinking of inspanning when over the hill we had last rounded appeared six buck Kafirs at a run. They were a considerable distance away, and occasionally were hid by the scrub, and though it was not an unusual occurrence, yet something warned me this was not a friendly visit.

Instinct collected and quickened my thoughts. I knew that the bush round about Matamba Water fairly "crawls" with lions on account of the abundance of game in the semi-tropical vegetation. Close behind the water-tree was one of many scattered rocks with a surface hollowed like a huge basin. To this I ran, curved my hands round my mouth, and, bending over the hollow in the rock, gave the lionesses' mating cry. I have always been gifted with the power of imitating the cries of animals, which I had often found useful in traveling through the bush. It was the wrong season, but I could not afford to consider that, knowing that if I failed there was nothing for it but a reserve bullet for myself, a quick glance around having revealed more buck Kafirs higher up the hill, and a glint of spear-heads.

The nearer Kafirs were now only some two hundred yards away. Running down the slope, and laughing mockingly at what they considered my feeble trick, they were shouting what exactly was going to happen to me. I cocked my revolver in readiness, and bent quickly over the hollow for a final call, but it was not necessary.

From the bush to east, west, and south rose a wild tumult of answering calls from male lions, some from between the two groups of running natives. Those farthest away turned in a hurry and fled up the hill; and not waiting to see what the nearer bucks did, I turned and fled to the cart. Never did I cover ground so quickly, and never shall I remember how I scrambled into the cart.

M'japa had, with sublime trust in Mazimba (myself), started to inspan the six mules as soon as he saw the Kafirs, accomplishing in some scant seven minutes a job that had never taken him less than twenty-five minutes before. By the time the lions answered my call he was holding the plunging mules with all the power of reins and brake, both, fortunately, new and strong.

We drove away at top speed, northward, the only clear way. Fortunately, the wind was from the north.

In spite of the tremendous speed and the jolting of the cart, I turned to watch the trail behind us. The nearer six Kafirs had also turned back at the first lion call, and must have fled directly among the animals. We heard the uproar of their onslaught almost at once above the din of the terrified mules' flying feet, which scarcely slackened speed until several miles lay between us and the watertree. Late that evening we arrived at our destination.

I decided, after all, to come back the same way, rightly as it proved. Passing the big water-tree, we came upon a few scattered bones, the remains of the six Kafirs, bleaching in the dazzling light of the sun, and round about the dwarf bushes the soil was disturbed. As we drew alongside the great Stad we found it in the silence of utter desertion. Faint spirals of blue smoke ascending from the hot ashes at the fireplaces made me decide not to outspan here, so we pushed on for two hours farther; in fact, to within three hours of Sebassa. Having seen the relics of the lions' feast, we knew that the Stad did not stand empty through my advice.

No white man will move the bones, because, as they lie there, they spell safety for numbers of white women. No black can be induced to touch them.

WHAT WOMAN NEEDS
above all things are Health and Happiness. These are the true Woman's Rights! Every woman is entitled to them. Dame Nature intended her daughters to be healthy in body and happy in mind. Any woman conscious of pain and trouble which she feels might be removed will be well advised to make careful enquiry as to the cause. If it is found—as indeed is frequently the case—that a disordered digestion is giving rise to ill-health and the consequent depression of spirits, medicine of the right sort will doubtless soon set matters right. But it must be of the right sort. Beecham's Pills are to be strongly recommended for woman's needs. They may be taken with perfect confidence for derangements of the digestive organs, including such unpleasant ailments as sick-headache, biliousness, flatulence, constipation and the lassitude and worries often incidental to her sex. Every woman may get nearer to Health and Happiness by using

EUROPE'S PEASANT HOLIDAY

Quit Work And Flock To Cities, Leaving America To Feed World

One of the striking features of the after-war disorganisation in the countries of Central Europe is the disinclination of the peasants to return to their agricultural pursuits, and the herding of millions of the inhabitants in the cities, where there is even less food and less chance for the poor to get it than in the country. This extraordinary and generally unexpected situation has greatly reduced the possibility of Europe feeding herself next Winter, and gives assurances that every pound of food America can produce this year will be needed by the world, and that prices will not be materially lower than they have been if they do not advance on some staples. Added to European disorganisation comes a great reduction in India's food output and the fact that much of Australia's great share of wheat, on which so much was counted, will be unfit for shipment.

When the armistice was signed it was thought that the armies would be demobilised, and that the people of Germany, Austria-Hungary, and the other countries of Central Europe would return in large numbers and take up work on the land. There was every reason to believe that the peasants would cultivate the soil and produce a large share of the needed food for this coming year. In this respect there has been great disappointment. Due to unsettled conditions and unstable Government, the people have been slow to take up any regular occupation. In some districts, where there have been many large land holdings, the people are demanding that these be broken up into smaller tracts and distributed. Many thousands of peasants are leaving the mountain country, where they have been producing live stock, and are coming down into the valley country, where they hope to get a share of the rich agricultural lands. The peasants on these lands are slow to plant and cultivate, fearing they may lose their labor and their crops if the land is given to others.

The result of this disturbance is that food production will be materially decreased. In other territory, due to a lack of transportation and seed, crop production will be very much reduced. Conditions everywhere are such that there is little hope for normal production. With the disturbance in the country, it is found that the people are flocking to the cities. In 1914 the city of Budapest had a population of about 800,000, while the population today is more than 2,000,000. The city of Vienna in the past few months has increased in population more than 1,000,000. During normal times the city of Vienna received 900,000 liters of milk daily. At this time this has been reduced to 90,000 liters of milk, which is given by cards only to babies and invalids. The American flour which has reached Germany has been sold in half-pound lots for 2.14 marks. This would be at the rate of about 51 cents a pound. Other foodstuffs are selling at unusually high prices, all of which indicates that the supply of food is far from meeting the demand.

The expected surplus in India and Australia has been much reduced. Instead of India having 200,000,000 bushels of wheat for export that country must receive a large amount to fight off famine. A part of the Australian surplus was lost as a result of mould, rodents, and general deterioration.

In view of all these facts, D. I. Christie, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, speaking for the Department, has called upon American farmers to keep up their record production of recent war years, not only as a humane contribution to the welfare of mankind, but as good business.

NEW REVOLT BY VILLA SWEEPING OVER MEXICO

Washington Hears Another Rebel Movement Is Spreading Toward Chihuahua

SEIZE CARRANZA SUPPLIES

Parral Taken, Its Mayor And Two Sons Hanged—Jiminez And Bastillo Fall

Washington, May 5.—Francisco Villa, starting a new revolutionary movement against the Carranza Government, has captured Parral, Jiminez, and Bastillo, in Central and Southern Chihuahua, and is planning to extend his operations toward the cities of Chihuahua and Torreon as early objectives, according to information that reached the State Department today. Before entering Parral, the advices said, Villa sent word to Mayor Herrera, telling him that he and his sons would be hanged when Villa entered the town.

When the Villistas entered Parral, the Carranza garrison went over to the side of the revolutionists, and Mayor Terrera and two of his sons were hanged. It was explained here that this was Villa's method of dealing with the Herreras for their attitude toward him after the battle of Celaya, in which he was beaten by Obregon.

General Maclovio Herrera, a son of the Mayor of Parral, was the man to whom Villa gave command of the Zaragosa brigade in 1914, during the revolution against the old regime in Mexico. But when Villa lost the battle of Celaya, and Carranza's star of destiny rose, Mayor Herrera and two of his sons turned against the revolution and embraced the Carranza cause. Subsequently, it was said, the father induced Maclovio Herrera to desert Villa, who was believed to have lost his strength in Northern Mexico.

Villa has been planning his present revolution for months and there are indications, according to advices now received in Washington, that the renewed attack is developing into a formidable factor in the Mexican situation. Many believe the movement will hasten the downfall of Carranza, and that within another month all of Northern Mexico will be in revolt against the present Mexican Government.

Seize Carranza's Imports Of Arms

According to the information received here, Villa held off launching his revolt until after Carranza had imported a considerable quantity of arms and ammunition into Mexico and until some of these munitions had been sent into Chihuahua. The revolutionary leader is reported to have captured considerable quantities of this ammunition, resorting to the same tactics used when he and Carranza were together engaged against the Huerta regime. He is also depending now upon the revolt of Carranza garrisons and desertions of Carranza soldiers in Chihuahua.

General Felipe Angeles, who was formerly Villa's chief of artillery, and who was looked upon as being the brainiest soldier in Villa's former campaigns, has rejoined General Villa and is now serving as his chief of staff. Following the fall of Parral, the Villistas' occupation of Bustillos, on the Northwestern Railroad about fifty miles west of Chihuahua City, is threatening the capital of Chihuahua from the west.

Word reached Washington today also that Villa recently visited the plant of an American mining company at Santo Eulalio and informed those in charge of the company that Carranza would not longer be able to furnish protection to the plant, or collect taxes, and that it was the intention of the Villista leaders to collect taxes in that vicinity in the near future.

The Superintendent of the mine closed down the works, collected as much of the movable property as possible, and took it to Chihuahua City. There were 3,000 men employed in the plant and most of these went along. The State Department has been advised that Americans in Chihuahua City assert that Villa is threatening that city from the west, and that these Americans have expressed a desire to get to El Paso.

Cut Rail Line To Chihuahua

The revolutionists have cut the Chihuahua-Torreon main line of railway near Ortiz, and have destroyed the Conchos bridge there. This bridge had survived the attacks and fighting of eight years, and it is asserted that its destruction will prevent Carranza despatching reinforcements from Mexico City to Chihuahua over that direct route.

General Carranza has ordered General Manuel M. Dieguez to go from the Tampico oil region to Chihuahua in personal command of 2,000 Government troops, to co-operate with General Jesus Castro, the commander of the garrison at Chihuahua, whose forces are divided between that city and Juarez. General Castro, who has been at Juarez, has been ordered to go to Chihuahua City also.

The despatch of the forces under Dieguez is expected to leave the Tampico oil district unprotected, and it is feared that General Manuel Pelaez, whose men have been kept out of the oil region by the presence of Dieguez there, will enter the Tampico district as soon as the Dieguez forces leave. Operating north and west of Tampico are two independent leaders, Generals Gutierrez and Caballero.

These men, while not a part of the Villista movement, are represented as acting in harmony with Villa against Carranza. They are expected to try to throw obstacles against the projected relief movement of the Dieguez forces from the Tampico district by way of Torreon to Chihuahua. The withdrawal of Dieguez and his forces from the oil region would abandon that territory to the Pelaez brothers, the rebels who have collected money from foreign interests for protection.

Today's advices showed that the capture of Jiminez, an important railway junction point, took place orignally about three weeks ago. The Carranza garrison recaptured Jiminez, but the place has again been taken by the Villistas. Reports through official and other channels indicate that strategically Villa is rapidly reaching a position where he may within ninety days gain control of the situation in Chihuahua. The loyalty of the State's capital to the Carranza cause is doubted by some of the Americans there.

Villa To Appeal To Americans

In launching his new revolution, according to information obtained through trustworthy channels, it is understood to be the purpose of Villa soon to issue a statement addressed to the press of the United States, in which he will seek to combat the idea that has been prevalent since the Columbus raid and the Pershing punitive expedition, that Villa was responsible for the raid on Columbus. Persons in Washington who have been in touch with Villa said he denied that he had anything whatever to do with the Columbus raid, declaring that he was then more than 200 miles from the border.

Villa, from what was learned here tonight, also denies that he had any responsibility for the murders by Mexican bandits at Santa Ysabel, and has been asserting that if he had had the opportunity he would have "adequately and immediately punished" those who committed that outrage, in which a number of the victims were his friends.

In his present revolution, Villa is insisting that he is not ambitious for office for himself, but proposes to see that the executive power of Mexico is delivered into the hands of some strong and just man, to be surrounded by a Cabinet of men capable of guiding Mexico with a safe and steady hand. Villa has told some of those who have seen him recently that when this has been accomplished he will retire, but not before.

According to the State Department advices, Villa has called for a forced loan of 1,000,000 pesos from the industry of the Torreon region, and this has inspired conviction that Villa plans an early descent on Torreon.

Alvarez Executions Stirs Capital

The clash between the military and judicial authorities of Mexico over the hasty execution of General Francisco de P. Alvarez has become so serious, according to advices received from the Mexican capital today, that there is a probability of the Mexican Supreme Court resigning in a body because of the defiance of its authority by the military authorities at Vera Cruz.

General Blanquet, it is now said, was killed by falling over a precipice in the jungle where he and Alvarez lost their way. Alvarez was injured so that he could not escape and the Carranza troops took him prisoner. The troops found Blaquet's body and took the head to Vera Cruz to prove the General's death.

Alvarez was tried by court martial and shot in spite of a specific order of the Supreme Court in Mexico City that the execution should not take place. The order from the Supreme Court reached the authorities in Vera Cruz but resulted only in a postponement of two hours.

Rafael Montalvo, military commander of Vera Cruz and presiding officer of the court martial, together with General F. L. Urquizo, chief of military operations in the State of Vera Cruz, telegraphed to the Supreme Court that the War Department had ordered the execution, and that its orders had been carried out.

Feeling among the judiciary and legal fraternity is running high over the defiance shown by the military, and action in the matter is expected during the present extraordinary session of the Mexican Congress.

PEARL WHITE IN "THE LIGHTNING RAIDER"

A most amazing adventure-serial, which will appeal to all classes. Contains a sensible, coherent, logical story of enthralling and engrossing interest.
